Subject: Testimonial for Benjamin Wee

To Whom It May Concern,

I had the pleasure of supervising Benjamin during his internship, where he supported daily activities in the flavor creation lab. Throughout his time on the team, Benjamin consistently demonstrated reliability, initiative, and a strong commitment to learning.

His responsibilities included compounding flavors, preparing tasting samples, and managing inventory—tasks he handled with a high level of accuracy and professionalism. Benjamin's strengths were evident from the start: he is remarkably observant, proactive in identifying needs or potential issues, and skilled in planning and time management. He prioritizes tasks effectively, ensuring that deadlines are met without compromising quality.

What stood out most was that Benjamin's attentiveness and proactive mindset were noticed not only within our department but also by colleagues from other teams. His positive attitude and willingness to support others made him a valuable addition to the lab.

Benjamin has shown great potential, and I am confident he will excel in any role he pursues. I highly recommend him for future opportunities.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am delighted to write this testimonial for Benjamin Wee, who successfully completed an internship with Cargill from June 3, 2024, to August 30, 2024. During this period, Benjamin demonstrated exceptional skills and a strong work ethic that significantly contributed to our team.

Benjamin was involved in various projects, including validating the reliability of discrimination test methods, specifically the triangle test and tetrad test, on various food and beverage products based on our company's context. He also conducted a baseline study on whether coffee aroma can facilitate the recovery of sensory panelists' olfactory performance. Additionally, Benjamin assisted in the recruitment and screening of sensory panelists according to requirements and supported the day-to-day functions of the sensory team, including sample preparation, inventory checks, and lab maintenance.

Throughout his internship, Benjamin exhibited several commendable traits such as resourcefulness, initiative, proactivity, meticulousness, and problem-solving skills. He was a fast learner and dependable team member who consistently delivered high-quality work. One of his notable achievements was implementing better inventory management processes and assisting in developing training programs to improve sensory panelists' performance.

Benjamin's positive attitude and willingness to take on new challenges were greatly appreciated by everyone in the team. His contributions have left a lasting impact, and I am confident that he will excel in any future endeavors he chooses to pursue.

To whom this may concern,

RE: Testimonial letter

This is to certify that Mr Benjamin Wee has completed 3 months internship with us- French Food Factory Pte Ltd from the period 21st March to 21st June 2022.

His internship was a full-time appointment with our company. He was assigned Production & Quality Assurance role and was rotated among key departments within our manufacturing facility- from ingredients receiving to packing to storage & delivery.

Benjamin is a fast learner and could pick up key food science and business concepts quickly. He displayed good initiative and resourcefulness and was always eager to solve any problems that occurred at the production floor. His positive attitude is commendable.

He is a dependable worker and good team player who was well-liked by all. Towards the end of his internship, he was able to take charge of the facility's warehousing and delivery operations, ensuring quality control of our finished goods. He was also involved in ensuring proper documentation of the factory's ISO 22000 records. He implemented new processes and created training manuals to help improve new hire's onboarding process.

It is with sadness that he is no longer with our company and I wish him all the best in his future endeavours. He has my highest recommendation.
